

British Pullman THE GOLDEN AGE OF TRAVEL

Step back in time to the golden age of travel aboard our lovingly restored carriages. Embrace the gilded era of art deco on a nostalgic journey through the Kent countryside, enjoying seasonal British cuisine, convivial conversations and a surprise stop with enchanting entertainment.

Board British Pullman at London Victoria Station and prepare for the trip of a lifetime. Your smartly uniformed steward welcomes you into your carriage, where you have time to soak up the lavish art deco details from your plush armchair. Note the polished marquetry and plush textiles, the brass luggage racks and silken lampshades, as well as your pristine table, set with bespoke cutlery and glassware. Soon, the train departs, and a glass of chilled champagne is in your hand. The adventure has begun! Heading out of London and into the Kent countryside, savour a delicious five-course feast crafted from the tastiest seasonal ingredients and complemented by our sommelier's choice of wines. As you gaze out at the vistas, feel time slow down, enjoy the buzz in the carriage and relish the nostalgia of a golden age. The route takes you via Canterbury to Dover, where you alight briefly onto the platform for some lively entertainment and tempting local refreshments. Back on board, the train begins its return journey via Folkestone and Paddock Wood. Coffee is served before you arrive back at London Victoria.
